

That's What She Said!

You will need one pen, one piece of paper and a person to secretly record. This is a game for a group with a good sense of humor. While the mom-to-be is opening or viewing her gifts, have the host or one of the guests privately write down everything she says while she is opening or seeing each baby shower gift for the first time.

When she has finished opening all the gifts, tell the guests that you would like to read something to them. Say this is what the expectant mommy said to her man the night they conceived the baby! Then read each statement from the list. With the right group, this game should be a hit and is sure to have everyone giggling. Here are some amusing quotes that have been said...

"Oh my gosh, that's much smaller than I expected"

"Oh, natural always feels so much better."

"Awe, I can't believe someone can fit in there."

"That looks like it will be a snug fit"

"I love lotion!"

