

Clothes Line Belly Circumference Game

Provide one clothes line and then one clothes pin for each guest with their initials written on it. Ask them to take turns “guess”timating how large mommy's tummy circumference is and then clip the clothes pin on that spot. The clothes line is then wrapped around the mommy's tummy to check the actual length, the guest with the closest guess wins AND mom has a clothes line and clothes pins for drying her new cloth diapers in the sun!

You should of course ask the expectant mother when you are planning the shower if she will be comfortable playing this game. (This game can strategically be paired with the clothes pin game!)
