

Diaper Bag Memory Game

Take an organic or eco friendly diaper bag like Zoe B and fill it with everything that the mother-to-be will need to take with her every time she goes out with her baby. These could be items such as a BPA-free bottle, a silicone pacifier or teether, Earth's Best teething biscuits, Maggie's baby socks, Weleda baby lotion, California Baby sunblock, an organic burp cloth and changing pad, Seventh Generation diapers and wipes, a MiYim toy, a change of clothes, etc..

To start the game bring the diaper bag into the room and place it where all the guests can see it, but tell them not to touch. Leave the items on a table next to it for one minute (or your choice of time) and tell the guests to memorize the items that are on the table. Put the items back into the diaper bag and give the guests three minutes or more to write down what all the items were. (To determine time limits, we recommend testing the game out before the baby shower.) The guest who remembers the most items in the allotted time is the winner. At the end, the expectant mom gets to keep the diaper bag and all the items it contains.
